Death Investigation

(Sullivan Island, SC) On March 27, 2015, the Charleston County Sheriff's Office responded to Sullivan Island to investigate the discovery of a deceased body of a white female that apparently washed up on shore. The body was later identified by the Charleston County Coroner's Office as that of Joanna Joly, 25, of Mount Pleasant. The Coroner's Office determined the cause of death was drowning, but the manner of death was identified as pending.

Based on the Sheriff's Office preliminary investigation, which included interviews and the collection of physical evidence, there were no immediate evidence found that would indicate foul play is involved in the victim's death. However, our detectives do need the public's help in locating the victim's vehicle.

The public is ask to call Consolidated Dispatch at 843.743.7200 or the Sheriff's Office Criminal Investigation Division at 843.554.2473. Please see attached BOLO for a description of the victim's vehicle.
